Discovery Findings and Recommendations

Today, experience is the only competitive advantage. Across the board, students, teachers, and administrators are drowning. The education industry is ripe for disruption. With AI, this disruption won't take long.

Through user research, competitive benchmarking, and an assessment of your technology, we have brought your opportunity into focus. We found that Gale has the scale, distribution, and content to win education's AI era. But victory is not assured.

We have designed a plan and early prototypes to get you there. Let's create a market-disrupting experience, driven by AI, and bolstered by your ocean of content.

Gale has championed research and discovery to both build and improve upon the experiences of educators, administrators, and learners in today's rapidly changing educational landscape.

We've spent the past few months synthesizing data and expertise into insights and recommendations that will deliver the product success story Gale is primed to embrace.
